

Janet M. Fulton, ACC, is a professional coach and currently works with government, non-profit and financial institution leaders creating and implementing financial coaching services and financial empowerment programs in support of low-middle income audiences.

Janet has served the ICF Ohio Valley leadership team since 2011 in both Secretary and Treasurer roles. In May she became acting president-elect when the former chapter president vacated that office and the interim chapter president invited her to assume the president-elect role in support of the chapter. She also represents ICF Ohio Valley on the International Coach Federation Midwest Regional Advisory Council.

Prior to becoming a coaching entrepreneur in 2008, Janet directed programs for Women4Women developing and implementing the Finance4Her Encouragement Coach Network during her tenure. As senior project manager at the National Center for Family Learning (NCFL) she provided leadership for English learner and community-based literacy initiatives. Co-authorship projects used nationally in family literacy and parenting programs include: Parenting for Academic Success: A Curriculum for Families Learning English; and Talking Through Wordless Picture Books: A Tutor Strategy Supporting English Language Learners. Over the last three decades Janet provided educational consulting leadership in Texas, Michigan, Indiana and Kentucky, in addition to leading the international Lau Literacy program, Solomon Islands, South Pacific.

Janet is a proud member of the International Coach Federation. With Gallup strengths—responsibility, strategic, relator, ideation and learner—she serves on the Bank On Louisville Executive Committee. She is a certified Story Coach as well as a certified facilitator for the Cerny Smith Cross Cultural Index and The 5 Languages of Appreciation in the Workplace.
