

Kristen Beireis is the Trust-Building in Marketing Expert. She combines her knowledge of marketing with personal coaching skills to help solo entrepreneurs discover their unique plan for what to do and say in marketing. She specifically works with clients in the business of empowerment, coaching and massage therapy.

Kristen is originally from Ohio, but spent six years as a professional Singer/Actress in the New York City area, which required her to quickly learn how to market her talents and skills. She and her husband also ran an online retail business for three years. In total, Kristen has over 15 years of marketing experience online and offline. She's also a Trained Life Coach, a Certified Essential Message™ Facilitator, a Group Coach and Certified Core Values Index™ (CVI) Facilitator.

In her spare time, Kristen can be found performing on local community theater stages, singing in the Centerville Community Chorus, hosting game days with her husband and hiking in the local Metroparks. Kristen believes life was meant to be enjoyed and that includes marketing. You can find out more about Kristen and her services at <http://www.CoachesMarketingSource.com>.
